VENTION.
A National Convention of the Republican party will meet at Chicago, Wednesday, the 23d be supported for President and Vice President at the next election.

them in supporting the nominee of the party, are invited to choose two delegates from each Congressional District, four at large from each State, two from each Territory, and two from the District of Columbia, to represent them in the Convention.

SENATORIAL CONVENTION.
A Republican Senatorial Convention of the Seventeenth Senatorial District, comprising the

A common occurrence—Tilden gobbling Democratic delegates.

In the Presidential race next fall the most interesting scene will be the pell mel fashion in which the Democrats will take to the woods.

Mr. Tilden has no more mercy for a rival Democratic candidate, than he has for a sick railway, or the stockholders of a Michigan mining company.

This is moving day, and Garcelon, Finley, Donnelly, and Pillsbury, should move to Gramercy Park, and take up their abode with their champion and leader.

There is a lingering hope in Kearney's mind that the 11th of May will bring him release from prison, that being the day when the Supreme Court will hear his case.

Senator Hanna struck the nail on the head, and squarely too, when he said there should be no further appointments to West Point until the institution could be investigated and reformed.

Among the young and robust men of this country there are none whose ambition makes Democratic aspirants tremble more than that of Samuel J. Tilden. For a man so young he wields a good deal of power.

Postmaster General Key has accepted from the President the appointment of United States Judge for the Eastern and Middle District of Tennessee. The President should make United States Judges of all his original Cabinet, and thus hand-somerly fix them for life.

The Atlantic Monthly for May is, in some respects, the best number of that excellent magazine so far this year. Mr.
Howell's serial "The Undiscovered Country" is drawing to a close. It is one of the closest psychological studies we have in all our literature. The story is based on spiritualism and spirit mediums. Intense believers, willing dupes, and critical disbe-lievers are brought upon the stage and go in and out among each other, weaving about the whole a subtle beauty and depth of clear thinking that gives a charm and intense interest on the part of the reader seldom to be found elsewhere. The essays of the number are all good and timely. Altogether, the Atlantic is our favorite magazine. Buy it and read it, and you will find that you have made an excellent investment.

The frequency with which storms occur in the western country has led a correspondent of a Chicago paper to suggest some precautions which should be used against cyclones in building houses. He argues that a passage-way should be constructed running from the first door of the house to the depth of eight or ten feet below the surface ground, and then in a horizontal direction beyond the foundation of the building about twenty feet, where it can be enlarged into an underground room large enough to accommodate the whole family. This could be used as a place of refuge when severe wind storms or cyclones made their sudden visitations. Of course these suggestions will never be heeded for the reason that they are not practical.
Notwithstanding we are having many storms and a large number of cyclones that spread destruction along their pathway, the case is not so all-important as to warrant the making of underground chambers to protect the people from the fury of the devastating winds.

The result of the Conventions to elect delegates to the Republican State Convention, which have been held so far, indicate that Wisconsin will not send a solid delegation to Chicago for Senator Blaine. The Gazette has taken the position all along that a solid Blaine delegation could not be obtained by fair means, and the indications point to the correctness of the Gazette's prediction. For some time the Blaine club has been counting the twenty votes from Wisconsin as sure for him, and has been doing this in the face of the fact that the masses of the party in the State were not only divided on the candidates, but that there is a growing sentiment against sending an instructed delegation. Undoubtedly Mr. Blaine will get some votes from Wisconsin, but he will not get the whole delegation, and we doubt if he can get the half of the delegates. We say this much without insinuating that the delegates should not support him. We make the statement to correct the false impression created by the Blaine club that Wisconsin is solid for him.

State Superintendent Watford gives notice that the annual examination for teachers' State certificates will be held at Madison, beginning on Tuesday, August 10, at nine o'clock in the morning. Applicants for certificates will be examined in the following branches of study: (1) For an unlimited State certificate, the branches now required for a first grade country certificate, with the addition of English literature, and the rudiments of economy, geology, political economy, general history, and mental philosophy. This certificate will be issued to those only who furnish satisfactory evidence of successful teaching for at least nine terms.
(2) For a limited (five years') State certificate, the branches now required for a first grade country certificate, with the addition of English literature and the rudiments of mental philosophy. This certificate will be issued only to those who furnish satisfactory evidence of successful teaching for at least three terms. Seventy-five per cent. is fixed as the lowest average standing in the branches for the limited certificate.

The trial of young Kalloch for the murder of Charles De Young of the San Francisco Chronicle, will be the most interesting and important criminal case ever tried on the Pacific coast. The defense will offer some astounding testimony to show that De Young fired the first shot, while very one in the counting room of the Chronicle at the time of the murder, testify that the pistol which De Young had on his person had not been discharged. The first man to testify to De Young's shooting —Clementshaw—has been arrested for perjury. But there are a dozen others, all friends of the Kallochs, who will testify to a substance to the correctness of Clemenshaw's statements. Taking this fact into account, and also that there is the intensest animosity of feeling existing between the De Youngs and the Kallochs, the trial will be of remarkable interest. Neither party is without fault, but nevertheless the murder was cold-blooded and premeditated.
The De Youngs made themselves notorious by the bitterness of their attacks on persons who were not their friends, and the Kallochs were notorious for their lack of principle and honest motives.

A WRONG POSITION.

The question as to the person who is to be the Republican candidate for President, is the one whose importance overshadows every other present question in a matter of such consequence it is not only proper and natural, but inevitable that men of sincere views should have sincere differences not only as to the availability of the several candidates but as to their integrity and capacity. It is likewise proper for all Republicans at all proper times and in all proper places to state their views and preferences, always with candor, sometimes with emphasis—never with bitterness and obstinacy. The Inter Ocean instead of assuming a position on the Presidential question which is reasonable in itself, loyal to the Republican party, and patriotic in its sentiment, strikes a coercive attitude and proposes to compel the Republican party to take General Grant for its candidate. It is not satisfied to use earnestness and arguments to accomplish this purpose, but it is resorting to the trickery of ward politics—to fastian, bombast, and braggadocio—to ridicule, cajolery and misrepresentation, and to all the low and reprehensible arts known to ring politicians. It seems willing to impend the interests of its own party and its country to further the interests of one man, rejecting, ignoring, or ridiculing the judgment of a large element in the Republican party who believe the great good of the country demands the selection of some other candidate than General Grant for President.

In writing the foregoing it is not the intention of the Gazette to question the policy of having General Grant as our standard-bearer. Many honest Republicans believe him to be not only the strongest candidate for the highest office in the Republic, but the man with the best qualifications to fill that high office. The objection is only to the vicious, violent, and dictatorial spirit manifested by some of his friends in seeking to secure his nomination.

CONFEDERIT X ROADS.

They are Heard From—Congressman Hereford's speech in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Senate spent another hour to-day in considering the question of colored cadets at West Point. The most noteworthy feature of the debate was a speech of the oil-fashioned Bourbon type by Hereford of West Virginia, who closed up with that venerable conundrum of moss-back Democrats:
"Would you like to have your daughter carry a nigger?" He talked about the impossibility of ever putting the blacks upon an equality with the whites, and the only way of expecting white boys at West Point to associate with negroes. He declared that it was requiring of white cadets what Senators themselves would not grant, and averred that there was not a Republican member of that body who recognized the social equality of the white and colored races, and who would be willing to have his daughter marry a colored man. "If you send to West Point," he said, "you are in favor of social equality." "Why don't you enforce it in your families? You know you won't do it."

PENNSYLVANIA.

What Randall and Wallace Say Regarding the Democratic Convention.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The result of the Harrisburg convention has been the subject of gossip among politicians today. Speaker Randall was backed in his place this noon, and beaming over with joy over the outcome, which he regards as a great personal victory, since he succeeded in defeating not only the attempt to endorse Hancock, Senator Wallace was also back, and professed satisfaction with the result, pointing to the fact that Tilden failed to secure an instructed delegation as sufficient cause for his rejoicing. The general opinion is that Randall and Tilden came out with the honors. A full third of the delegation are admitted by even the Wallace men to be out and out Tilden advocates, and the Randall men claim that not a few of the others are quite likely to vote in some way. Charges of social equality by the Wallace men that the unit resolution was really carried, but the Randall men had the clerks of the convention, and declared that it was lost. There is a good deal of speculation as to how much the compromise between the factions will really amount to, though it is generally expected that it will hold out in this campaign, and prevent threatened opposition by his own party to Randall's return to Congress. There is much criticism of Randall's action in forcing his supporters to put upon the list of delegates Gill McCullum, one of the worst ward politicians in Philadelphia, but he would not hear of his being taken off. All accounts agree that there was an ugly crowd of ruffians on hand at Harrisburg, and that out of the compromise there would probably have been a terrible row.

A CHANCE

For the Promotion of Postmaster James, of New York.

New York, April 30.—It is now the general opinion among the Republicans here that, in case of General Key's withdrawal from the Cabinet, Postmaster James will be his successor. Mr. James says he will at least consider the offer if made to him. New York would be sorry indeed to lose him, and it is urged upon him that in case of a change in the political status of the Government he would soon be out at Washington, but, on the other hand, it is said Mr. James could do much to perfect the postal system of the country, and that the chance of a Democratic President is so slight that no man need hesitate on that account. The best informed belief is that, if appointed, Mr.
James will accept the Cabinet position which he is so able to honorably fill.

DE YOUNG ARRESTED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 30.—M. H.
De Young, surviving proprietor of the Chronicle, was arrested at noon to-day, on complaint of Mayor Kalloch, charging him with libel. The alleged libel was reproducing in the Chronicle of an editorial which appeared in the New York World, which accused Mayor Kalloch of subornation of perjury in connection with the testimony given by Clementshaw at the inquest on the body of Charles De Young. The prisoner was released on bail.

WHITTAKER.

More Handwriting Examined in the Investigation at West Point.

WEST POINT, April 30.—Now that the Whittaker case has fallen into the hands of the experts, many people here who have watched expert testimony in celebrated cases give up hope that anything will result but bewilderment. Expert Hagen, of Troy, declared to-day, however, that he was satisfied he had found the writer of the warning note sent to Whittaker, and was prepared to testify to that effect. The number which alone could give a clue to the person implicated by the expert was of course withheld.
Unfortunately, Mr. Paine, a New York expert of equal repute with Mr. Hagen, inferred from the latter by declaring some days since that the resemblance between the anonymous note and a certain cadet's writing were more than offset by the strong difference, and that the amount of writing was so small he would not undertake to base a conclusion. Another expert will report next week.

WISCONSIN DELEGATES.

The Washburne Sentiment on the Increase.

MADISON, April 30.—At the Senatorial Convention for the Eastern District of Dane county to-day Senator George B.
Barrows, A. B. Kerman, and Captain George Weeks, of York, the latter a Grant man, were elected delegates to the State Convention. An attempt was made to compel the delegates to announce their preference for Presidential candidates before they were elected. Senator Barrows said he wanted to represent the views of a majority of the delegates, and would act as instructed by the Convention. He wanted it understood that he would support the candidate of the Republican party when nominated at Chicago, no matter what the man was.
Capt. Weeks refrained from expressing his views. On motion of Mr. Adams, roll was called and each delegate named his choice for President, with the following result: Grant, 13; Blaine 17; Washburne, 6; Sherman, 2. A question being raised as to what the views of the Convention were as shown by the roll-call, some discussion ensued, which developed the understanding that the delegates were really untroubled by the action of the Convention, and at liberty to do as they pleased.

RACINE, April 30.—John T. Fish and L. S.
Blake have been elected delegates to the Republican State Convention. They are for Blaine first, with Washburne as second choice. Four other delegates will be elected at Union Grove on Saturday, which will complete the delegation from this county.

The impression is gaining that the nomination of Washburne is the safest that can be made at Chicago. The ward caucuses in this city, held on Thursday evening, were very thinly attended, owing to the rain. Votes were taken in the wards to show the personal preferences of the voters. Washburne had more votes than Grant, Blaine, Sherman and Edmunds combined.

A WARRING COUPLE.

RACINE, April 30.—Some time ago there lived in this city a divorced widow named Aggie Dall, once the wife of a former well-known insurance agent here. The woman is known by almost every person in the city, and a few months since married a Bill Shiel, of Western Union Junction. At the time people shook their heads and said there would be war between the two, and their assertions have proven correct, for to-day the woman came to town and complained that Bill had got a hundred dollars which was sent to her from her former husband, who is in Iowa, and had put her two children on the cars and sent them off; and to wind up he pitched into her and knocked her down and pounded her in a brutal manner. She also stated that she was running away from him and left for Chicago on one of the Goodrich boats this evening. It is also said by parties who pretend to know that ever since their marriage there has been trouble, and that Shiel has often appeared with his eye dressed in mourning for his wife. Four other delegates will be
county.

AID VOTED.

MADISON, April 30.—A largely attended meeting of prominent citizens of Madison was held at the Park Hotel to-night to take into consideration voting aid to the Chicago & Tomah Narrow Gauge Railroad, from Medford, Grant county, to this city. After a thorough discussion as to the many benefits to be derived from its completion, the following resolution was offered by Mr. Main, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, As the sense of this meeting, that the City of Madison aid the Chicago & Tomah Railroad in its extension to this city to the amount of $25,000.
The completion of this road will open up a very rich part of the State, and will double the secure the construction of the Northwestern of a line from Madison to Milwaukee.

BOUND OVER.

MADISON, April 30.—Sylvester, Almee, and Halverson, the young ruffians from Stoughton who sought an Indian encampment near McFarland last Sunday bent on murder, and who succeeded in creating a row, in which a little Indian boy 4 years old was kicked to death, were bound over in the Municipal Court today in the sum of $500 each on the charge of manslaughter.

A COSTLY DRESS.

OSHKOSH, April 30.—For three days the circuit court has been engaged in trying a remarkable slander case, which was finally brought to a close. A short time since a woman by the name of Arabella Rogers employed a dressmaker, named Mrs. Nellie A. Howe to make her dress. When the garment was completed Mrs. Rogers took it home. When the settlement day came the ladies had a misunderstanding as to the price to be paid, and in order to show her spite Mrs.
Rogers caused to be printed a number of handbills, which she circulated, stating that the dressmaker had retained a portion of the cloth, besides making a garment unfit to be worn, and warned the public to keep clear of her. A large number of witnesses were examined, and the jury was out about half an hour, when a verdict was rendered for $2,000 damages. Mrs. Rogers is well fixed financially.

A parrot in Bowdoin square, Boston, is master of a vocabulary of 200 words, which he speaks with a distinctness truly marvellous. Among the many phrases which he has been heard to utter are:
"Come over here and have some fun," "Polly is a nice old boy," "If you bite me I'll give it to you," "One day, when annoyed, he said to the cat that was in the habit of sharing his meals, 'I'll put a head on that old cat!' When he is naughty he is punished by being confined to his cage, which he calls being put to bed. On one occasion he said to a mirror, 'I'll put a head on you, and then I'll have to go to bed, and don't you forget it.' He is a staunch Republican, and advises all visitors to 'vote for Talbot.' He sings the whole of the song, 'Oh, dear, what can the matter be?' and was never known to swear. Price $300.

—May day.

—Burr Robbins' circus lived up everybody to-day.

—In the Circuit Court to-day the Jones case is being summed up.

—The city schools open up Monday. A special examination was held this morning for the benefit of some of the pupils who were "a little off" on the last one.

—Bishop Welles, of Milwaukee, visits the Episcopal churches to-morrow, officiating in the morning at Trinity church, and in the evening at Christ church.

—Mrs. Beach, who has been spending the winter in Ann Arbor, Mich., returned last evening to her home in this city. She has been quite ill, but is better now and regaining her strength.

—A young man named Fritz got tumbled over a shell with which he was navigating the Rock, to-day. The shell collided with the Milwaukee street bridge, and caused the tip-over and drenching, but no further damage.

—Robson and Crane are to be at the Opera house on the 13th of this month. It is not known what they will play, but probably "Sharps and Flats." That will prove a treat indeed, and their names alone should draw an overflow.

—Father Doyle in behalf of himself and congregation desires to publicly express his thanks to the Janesville Furniture Company, for a pair of stools on which to set the casket at times of funerals in St. Patrick's church, and which the company have generously donated.

—It is hard to get away from Chicago. One of our citizens went there to do some business for a society of which he was a member, and when he got ready to come home, he was caught on a swinging bridge, turned around, delayed, and missed the train. He then clung to the depot, and tumbled himself into the first freight train that came along, and got as far as Harvard all right, but stopping there for lunch, he got mixed up and took the wrong train when he came out of the dining room. He stopped at the first station, got out, and walked back to Harvard, and there waited over until the next day. It will relieve the anxiety of friends along the line to know that he has at last arrived safely at home.

—George Peck arrived from Milwaukee last night in accordance with his promise to use a free pass to Robbins' show. This forenoon he astonished himself by noting the improvements made in the Gazette establishment since he set type therein in the sweet by-gone. This afternoon he took in the big show, and to-night he is to call upon the fire lads at No. 25 house and see how quickly they can hitch up. He is a veteran fireman himself and gained celebrity first as one of the noblest firemen who went to Madison to the State Fair years ago, and all occupied one bed and one room. Peck was always proud of a red shirt, and it will be a pleasing surprise to him to know that the boys have gathered up the remnants of the one he used to wear, had them framed, and are now prepared to rent it on loan terms as a small pay sign. Peck will have a hearty greeting to-night from his comrades of the earlier years.

A BRILLIANT SHOW.

Burr Robbins' Opening Street Parade and His Exhibition Under the Canvas.

The main streets of the city were thronged to-day with people and teams, the street parade and exhibition of Burr Robbins' Great American and German Allied Shows, being the chief cause for the extra rush. Long before the hour for the street parade, the balconies, front windows, dry goods boxes, and other convenient places for sight seeing, along the line of march, were taken possession of and children as well as young children waited and waited, and clung to their chosen positions as though to miss the sight would make life a failure.

The sidewalks were thronged, and many teams crowded the streets, and placed hitching posts at a premium. The crowd lived through it though, and enjoyed it. When the parade appeared in sight at last, there was a rush, a stretching of necks, a jostling, elbowing, and a heroic struggle to get to the front. The parade was a large and dazzling one, and comprised a glittering show of gaily caparisoned horses, brightly uniformed men, showy cages, brilliant chariots, and a whirl of colors to catch the eye. Banners of every description were waving, there were knights on prancing steeds, gay cavaliers and ladies fair, the band wagon filled with the musicians in their scarlet uniforms, and discharging lively music. Elephants and camels, little ponies, and big horses, a leopard lying on top of one cage, another cage filled with lions, among whom the keeper moved with no apparent fear of harm. One chariot was surmounted by a living tableau showing Neptune with his trident, another was the Goddess of Liberty. There were clowns to make fun for the little folk, in fact something and everything to catch the crowd, amuse the folk, and more than repay all who crowded the streets to see the parade.

In a covered carriage at the close of the procession sat Burr Robbins, who to-day makes his first appearance in public since his terrible injuries. Many crowded about the carriage to express their gladness that he is still able to not only live and breathe and having his being, but that despite his injuries, he is able to manage such a mammoth enterprise. Many words of high praise were spoken even among those who compared it with previous parades made by this show. Everything was bright, new, gay, and a great variety of attractions were crowded into it.
